

Dear County Bar Association CLE Presenter,

On behalf of the County Bar Association, I'd like to thank you for supporting the CBA by serving as a faculty member for an upcoming continuing legal education event (CLE). Continuing legal education is a critical part of every attorney's professional development and the CBA has a reputation for producing quality CLE programs. In an effort to offer CLEs to the largest possible audience of local attorneys, the CBA has partnered with Axom Education to videotape and produce live CLE events as online courses for attorneys who are unable to attend the seminar in person. Axom Education is a Pennsylvania-based provider of online professional education and is an approved online content producer for CBA CLE courses.

As a CBA CLE presenter, you have the option to allow your course to be videotaped and offered as an online CLE seminar. This would allow the CBA to expand the audience to any interested attorney, even if they are unable to attend the live presentation. Our courses are not simulcasts or simple video replays: we professionally edit your presentation to incorporate any visual aids and written materials into a course that attorneys can take online for credit at any time.

I would be happy to discuss any questions or concerns you may have about the online CLE process. If you are willing to allow the videotaping and production of your seminar, please complete the attached release and return to Jane Doe, Executive Director for the CBA.

Thank you,

Stacey R. Papa, Esq.
